Jacksonville, Florida- Kristen Salameh joins the Sight & Sound Productions family of companies in January 2011 as project coordinator.

As newly appointed project coordinator, Kristen works closely with Sight & Sound's senior project managers to assist in creating event plans that capture the client's vision, respect the client's budget and ensure all creative, technical and staffing elements come together as planned. Kristen helps to ensure that the client experience is pleasant and efficient while achieving all objectives.

As a Jacksonville native, Kristen attended the Bolles School and received her degree in Marketing in 2005 from Jacksonville University. Backed by her experience in holding various leadership positions throughout her college career and in the community, Kristen is also active in various charitable organizations.

Since 1987, Sight & Sound Productions has relied heavily upon the unique talents and experience of its employees to create memorable events for their clients. Exceptional quality, knowledge and depth of planning are crucial to producing a successful event. Kristen's positive and upbeat attitude makes her an important asset to the success of the company and its clientele. The Sight & Sound family is proud to have her part of the team and looks forward to a productive 2011.
