Jacksonville, FL; 20th May 2009—Sight & Sound Productions, in continuing their relationship with the Jacksonville Zoological Gardens, was a sponsor of the ExZOOberASIAN event that took place on the Zoo's grounds last month.

The event, a donor reception and fundraiser, had an Oriental theme and featured both live and silent auctions. As they entered, guests were greeted by bamboo flute music piped through Sight & Sound Productions' speaker system. Sight & Sound Productions also placed a total of four 50" plasma TV's around the Asian Gardens that showcased the sponsors and auction items. Two tents, lit by Sight & Sound, housed the guests, and bamboo gobos were used to further embody the theme.

Sight & Sound Productions is proud to partner with community organizations such as the Jacksonville Zoological Gardens. For more information on Sight & Sound Productions and their events, visit www.ssav.net.
