Jacksonville, FL; 26th May, 2009—Sight & Sound Productions has provided audio support for one of its most high-profile events to date. Piped through Sight & Sound Productions audio equipment, Former President George H.W. Bush's voice rang clearly throughout the Players Stadium course during his visit on Military Appreciation Day this month.

The Former President was at the TPC in Ponte Vedra Beach to attend a ceremony honoring America's troops, and to receive PGA Tour's Lifetime Achievement Award. For this exciting event, Sight & Sound Productions used their new line array cabinets in order to provide the clearest, most powerful sound possible so that each word from Bush 41 would reach each ear in the audience. The ceremony included a speech, music, a military jet flyover and a parade of sailors. Sight & Sound Productions provided audio for the entire ceremony, as well as the stylish Plexiglass podium from which the Former President spoke. Audio engineers and project managers were on hand throughout the ceremony to manage logistics, and the event was an all-around success. Sight & Sound Productions is proud to have been a part of this very special event, and to have executed the show at standards reflecting the importance of the occasion and its guests.
